

Whaia Te Tika: Bridging the gap: Kaupapa Māori approach to engaging with Māori communities

Whaia Te Tika workshop series takes the attendees on a journey advancing Māori health and well-being through the development of culturally informed and relevant research, healthcare service delivery and professional practice

Each session concentrates on the application one of the 5 Tiriti principles relative to practice/ research and includes the following learnings:

- Broken promises and where to from here
- Unpacking equality and equity
- Discrimination and recovering an equal partnership.
- Kaupapa Māori approaches and other frameworks
- Challenges Structures, frameworks, and positionality
- Building a bridge-research and suspicions
- Whakapapa- Where have we been and where to next
- Kaupapa Māori Applying good stuff in the clinical context
- Kaupapa Māori Applying good stuff in the clinical & research context: Crown frameworks
- Kaupapa Māori Applying good stuff in the clinical or research context

IUE- Our commitment to Te Tiriti

Partnership as described by Te Tiriti o Waitangi has a crucial role in creating sustainable and mutually beneficial health outcomes for both Māori and non-Māori in Aotearoa. Over the past 26 years, as a nurse in Counties Manukau, I have developed unique approaches focused on the the application and realisation of Te Tiriti to advance the health of the communities we serve.

Iwi United Engaged has arisen from a demand for my particular insights and skills from clinicians, health researchers and engineers. I have been privileged to work alongside these communities, to bring a Māori "voice" to the research development process. It is my hope that through this work, Māori will be involved in developing and shaping the health research agenda in Aotearoa.
